

Marisha Wojciechowska – Thailand & Japan

A seasoned international development consultant, Marisha specializes in sustainable development and water management policies across Asia. Her extensive experience involves collaborating with diverse clients, including multilateral agencies, governments, research institutes, NGOs, and IFIs. Marisha excels in project coordination, policy formulation, and conducting multi-stakeholder consultations, demonstrating a profound understanding of intricate global challenges within the high-level policy landscape of Japan and Southeast Asia.

Beyond her consultancy role, Marisha is an entrepreneur with ventures like My Globetrotter Book, promoting cultural awareness and global citizenship among children. Committed to education, she also introduces My Bodytrotter Book, offering insights into cellular workings for the foundation of a healthy life. Marisha's passion extends to the frontier science of Redox Signaling Molecules, advocating their role in optimizing cellular function for overall health, unlocking the body's natural potential for vitality and well-being.

Marisha is also the co-founder and co-host of the “Elevate with Liana & Marisha” podcast, a globally streamed platform that brings together leading voices in policy, science, entrepreneurship, and culture to explore how we live, lead, and create impact in a rapidly changing world.

Link to the podcast : <https://www.youtube.com/@elevatewithlm>

Her professional journey and achievements are meticulously showcased on her LinkedIn profile and website, providing a comprehensive insight into her career. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/marisha>
www.myglobetrotterbook.com